Whig Mass Meeting at Bangor.

The several towns in the Congressional District composed of Penobscot and Piscataquis counties should be taking immediate measures to be fully represented at the Convention to be held in this city on the twentieth, not the twenty first inst. as once stated. The towns in this Senatorial District should select in addition to the above, a full number of Delegates to attend the County Convention to be held in this city on the same day. It is quite desirable that as many as possible from all the towns in the Congressional District and from other parts of the State should attend the great Mass Convention of the People to be held here on the twentieth.

The Whigs of Bangor would be happy to see a large number of their friends and will be glad to extend to them those friendly hospitalities that in this place has been so liberally bestowed upon them.

The Mass meeting will be addressed by Hon George Evans and several other eminent speakers whose names will hereafter be announced. We say to our Whig friends, one and all who can come, to come, that we may each be cheered on to the faithful discharge of those political duties that shall cause the manifold blessing of Republican liberty to descend and bless our country and to help life a whole Mass of the people.

Examination of the Public Schools.

The examination of the public schools last week gave the highest satisfaction to the committee and to the many visiters who attended. Most of the schools are well accommodated with comfortable rooms and all with good teachers. The progress of the schools has been such as to reflect the highest credit upon parents, teachers and pupils. Our schools are an ornament and a just source of pride and confidence to our people. We should be glad to speak of the examinations somewhat in detail, but must omit it for the present.

The number of scholars attending most of the schools is uncommonly large and further provisions will soon be needed for several of them while one or two are now absolutely suffering for better accommodations. In one school we visited, kept by Miss Thayer with Miss Snow for an assistant, on York street, a small room, there were present one hundred and thirty six pupils, stowed in close swellering masses. The school appeared well, better by far than one would suppose possible under the circumstances, which is to be accounted for only by the indomitable zeal of the teacher and the essential aid of her excellent assistant.

At the close of the school the little folks unitedly sang with the keenest relish, in the tune of Dan Tucker, the following song in which is neatly hit off the condition of the school:—

Here roaged like tigers for a hog-head
Our school room measures seven by nine
Six scores of children live as crowd
Like herrings in a boxes stowed.
Chorus—O give per room enough to turn in;
O give us room enough to turn in,
O give us room enough to turn in,
For this our little hearts are yearning

Of the new school-house we hang hard
Till we grow "long" sick with hope deferred,"
And idleness you can't impute
If "young ideas" do not shoot.
Chorus—For we are room-ty past disputing,
For we've not room—'tis past disputing,
For we've not room—'tis past disputing,
For ideas to shoot—room is too about in.

This song should be dedicated to those who having the authority to provide a school-room have neglected it.

A visit to our schools is of high interest as showing the different ideas teachers have of education and the various means resorted to for promoting it. In some schools, even the primary ones, the teacher will be found employed teaching the pupils to think, while in others the great aim of the teacher seems to be to teach them to remember. In some, appeals are made to the moral powers and to the heart, in others where the design is probably the same the memory is charged with theological theories to which many cannot subscribe. There is, however, in all the teachers, so far as we have had opportunity to observe, great zeal and an ardent desire to accomplish the most according to each one's idea, for those under their charge. Where there are errors, under such general conditions, a mere suggestion is unquestionably sufficient to secure the necessary improvement.

☞ The Bath Telegraph suggests that as the fairest mode of conducting the canvass and in order that the people may have the great questions which divide the two parties, discussed by those for whom they are called upon to vote, proposes that the candidates for Congress in that district meet each other in public discussion face to face before the people at different places as may be agreed upon by a Committee from each party. The whig district committee have signified a willingness on their part to bring about such a result. We hope every whig candidate in the State will embrace the earliest moment after the nomination in each district to make a similar proposal to his opponent. Let the people have light.

☞ We return our thanks to friends in several of the towns in this county for sending us Treasurer's Notices of uncollected taxes to advertise. We should be glad to do them, but the loco County Commissioners in this County, although opposed to the protective policy of the country, are willing enough to apply Protection to their party press by making it necessary to have such notices published in the Bangor Democrat. We therefore send all such notices to our neighbor, but whether this loco Protection suits the price, those who pay must judge. It is the most partial and objectionable principle of Protection we were ever acquainted with.

Good Spunk.

A boy living in Brewer a few days since fell from a pile of boards and broke his ankle. Doctor McNiar was called up to set the broken bones, and as the parts were much swollen, the operation was very painful one, but the little fellow bore it with no little fortitude and as the doctor was adjusting the bones the boy witingly remarked "Take care, Doctor, and not make me a long heel for my father is one already, and I am sure that is enough for our family. The wit was highly relished by all present.

Fair Play. This is Right.

We are glad to perceive that some of the Loco Foco party are willing to do justice to Mr Clay, in regard to the opinions he entertains on matters of public policy. We wish the Post, the Bay State Democrat, and their deluded followers, would state things as fairly and honestly as their brethren in Edgefield, South Carolina, have done. At a large meeting, lately held, they declared that—

"Mr Clay's first effort in the Senate of the United States was in favor of INTERNAL IMPROVEMENT, and his first great speech, made on his second election to that body, as early as 1809, was in favor of a PROTECTIVE TARIFF, which was born the life of FATHER OF THE AMERICAN SYSTEM. His subsequent career has proved his CONSISTENCY upon all these points, for which, and many others of import, THE DEMOCRACY OF THE WHOLE COUNTRY ARE AT ISSUE WITH HIM. Shall such a man, professing such principles, be made President of these United States? Let the Democracy of the country, from Maine to Louisiana, in one universal acclamation, respond, NEVER! NEVER!"

Not wishing to conceal Mr Polk's opinions, they openly declare him to be that which in reality he is, viz: the "advocate of the Invention of Terms"—and "a firm and consistent OPPONENT OF A PROTECTIVE TARIFF!" In this, they have acted fairly. They despise all shuffling, and desire to go into the conflict with the principles of their candidate inscribed on their banner—POLK, DALLAS, TEXAS, FREE TRADE AND SLAVERY. Here are two of the Resolutions passed at the Edgefield meeting:

Resolved, That in James K. Polk we recognize an ABLE ADVOCATE OF IMMEDIATE ANNEXATION OF TEXAS, AND A FIRM AND CONSISTENT OPPONENT OF A PROTECTIVE TARIFF and Abolitionism, and that, therefore, we cordially approve of his nomination, and pledge ourselves to his support.

Resolved, That the Tariff Act of 1842, is liable to all the objections we have heretofore made to the constitutionality and expediency of the measures of the Federal Government for the Protection of Domestic Manufactures, with the aggravation that it was a gross breach of the faith plighted to us in the Compromise of 1832; and that we regard the time and measure of our own resistance to this act as matters to be settled upon our own views of expediency, in no case to be hindered by our SUPPOSED ALLEGIANCE TO THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT.

These gentlemen thoroughly understand Mr Polk—and they know he will carry out the principles of their party, if elected. They recognise in him the able advocate of immediate annexation—and the FIRM and CONSISTENT OPPONENT of a Protective Tariff. Let this be remembered. Let the Mechanics, Manufacturers, Farmers, and all other Interests in society that are benefitted by the WHIG TARIFF, remember that James K. Polk is recognized by his party as the firm and consistent OPPONENT, and HENRY CLAY as the FATHER OF THE AMERICAN SYSTEM, whose first great speech, on his second election to the Senate, as early as 1809, was in favor of a Protective Tariff."

Mr Clay's Principles.

It is fortunate for the Whigs, says the Boston Mercantile Journal, that there are men besides those in their own ranks, who properly estimate the distinguished services and admirable policy of the Whig candidate for the Presidency. If we go back to Mr Madison's administration, when our commercial difficulties with England and France were threatening destruction to our trade with the world as a neutral nation, we find Mr Clay in the front rank of the democracy, devoting all the powers of his great talents in support of the administration, and of such measures as were thought by that administration necessary for the security of our rights on the ocean, and to vindicate the position which properly belonged to a nation at peace with all mankind. He was equally in the front rank of the administration, and on whose energy and power Mr Madison mainly relied, for aid in the conception and advocacy of measures necessary for a vigorous prosecution of the war against England. But we do not design to give a history of Mr Clay's many public acts, with which the whole people (those, at least, who take an interest in important political events and measures,) are as well acquainted as ourself—but we simply wish to introduce to our readers the following extract from a circular signed by Senator Benton, and first published in the Missouri Intelligencer, Oct. 22, 1824, as it expresses each opinions of the valuable and patriotic principles of Mr Clay, and the true and genuine creed always avowed and advocated by the great Whig party. This circular was issued just previous to the Presidential election of that year, and it will be seen that at that time Mr Benton was strongly in favor of Mr Clay for the Presidency:

"The principles which would govern Mr Clay's administration, if elected, are well known to the nation. They have been displayed on the floor of Congress for the last seventeen years. They constitute a system of American policy, based on the manufactures and agriculture of his own country—upon interior as well as seaboard improvement—upon the independence of the New World, and close commercial alliances with Mexico and South America. It is said that others would pursue the same system; we answer, that the founder of a system is the natural executor of his own work; that the most efficient protection of American iron, food, hemp, wool and cotton, would be the triumphant champion of the new Tariff; the safest friend to interior commerce would be the statesman who has proscribed the Mississippi to be the seat of the West; the most zealous promoter of internal improvements would be the President, who has triumphed over the President who opposed the construction of national roads and canals; the most successful applicant for treaties with Mexico and South America would be the eloquent advocate of their own independence.
